DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings were received on 4 April 2007. These drawings are acceptable.

Election/Restrictions

2. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species:

Species I, drawn to a graphics display method that uses a common clock source to synchronize blank periods of multiple display devices, and executes a power saving process within the least common multiple occurrence of the blank periods of the display devices (see Figs. 5-6; and Page 14, Paragraph 35 - Page 15, Paragraph 37 of the instant specification, for instance);

Species II, drawn to a graphics display method that uses a common clock source to synchronize blank periods of multiple display devices, detects an upcoming overlapping blank period of the display devices that is long enough for a power saving process to take place; and executes the power saving process within the overlapping blank period of the display devices (see Figs. 7-8; and Pages 15-16, Paragraph 37 of the instant specification, for instance);

Art Unit: 2629

Species III, drawn to a graphics display method that detects an occurrence of an upcoming blank period for each of a plurality of display devices; marks the last blank period occurrence of the display devices as a reference blank period; extends the blank periods of the other display devices to a time where all the display devices have an overlapping blank period longer than a power saving process period; and executes the power saving process within the overlapping blank period (see Figs. 9-10; and Pages 17-18, Paragraphs 38-39 of the instant specification, for instance); and

Species IV, drawn to a graphics display method that detects an occurrence of the upcoming blank period for each of a plurality of display devices; marks the last blank period occurrence of the display devices as a reference blank period; aligns the blank periods of the other display devices with the reference blank period so the display devices have an overlapping blank period longer than a power saving process period; and executes the power saving process within the overlapping blank period (see Figs. 11-12; and Pages 18-19, Paragraph 40 of the instant specification, for instance).

The species are independent or distinct because the species do not overlap in scope, i.e., are mutually exclusive; the species are not obvious variants; and the species each have a materially different design, mode of operation, function, and effect.

Art Unit: 2629

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, no claims appear to be generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

3. A telephone call was made to Jiawei Huang (Registration Number 43,330) on 13 September 2007 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Art Unit: 2629

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

4. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

Art Unit: 2629
